Health Insurance - A must have insurance

Germany has the world's oldest social health insurance system

- 1883 Health insurance
- 1884 Accident insurance
- 1889 Pension insurance (originally disability and old-age insurance)
- 1927 Unemployment insurance
- 1995 Long-term care insurance (incorporated into health insurance)

The German Social Security System

- Statutory social insurance is the most important social security institution in Germany
- It is closely regulated by law and is organized by self-governing insurance institutions
- The contributions of the statutory health insurance companies are basically the same
- We work closely with the TK as the largest institution, providing special services for students
- But any statutory health insurance may be selected of course.

TK
